At L'Aquila we've been supplying Mediterranean ingredients to the UK food trade for over 25 years now. Our business has changed and grown a lot since 1987. We've added new ranges, new brands and the number of staff has increased substantially. But we still share the same love of good Italian and Spanish food, and we still have the same passion for the best quality Mediterranean ingredients. And most importantly, we take great pride in the way we deal with our customers and suppliers.
